

ADVOCACY LEADERSHIP INNOVATION PROGRAM

JUNE 20-21, 2017

APPLICATION DEADLINE: MAY 15, 2017

Are you a high school student interested in law, policy, technology and/or innovation? Are you curious about contemporary legal developments and the process by which they are shaped? Do you want to observe court legal proceedings and interact with attorneys to find out what different types of attorneys in Silicon Valley do?

If so, explore your interests by applying for the ChIPs 2017 Summer ALI Program in the San Francisco Bay Area. This two-day program is open to female students who are in or entering into high school. Highlights of the program include:

- Attending a “mock-law” class at UC Hastings Law school in San Francisco
- Attending federal court in San Francisco and observing legal proceedings
- Introduction to Intellectual property law
- Interactive panel discussion with Silicon Valley attorneys in different practice areas

Interested applicants should apply at the link below by May 15, 2017 for priority consideration.
